TRULOCK IS HOST TO STATE GREETERS

visiting the state, many of these investing, and said the hotel clerks have it in their power to materially aid in the development of the state by following the suggestions given by Mr. Trulock.

P. J. Davis of Fort Smith referred to the statements of speakers preceding him as an indication that the hotel clerk is beginning to be appreciated, and gave assurance that members of the organization would continue to exert their best efforts in behalf of the state.

W. C. Dunegan took occasion to boost Dermott, from which he hails, describing that place as being "in the heart of the delta" and growing steadily.

That the hotel clerks' willingness to aid in state development could be best utilized by providing the clerks with accurate information and data concerning the state and its resources, was the purport of a short talk by J. H. Tucker, Jr., secretary of the Young Men's Business League of Pine Bluff. Mr. Tucker said his organization is now compiling statistics which will be furnished the local hotel clerks in comprehensive form that they may be well fortified with facts and basis for their development talks.

Would Aid Boosters.

A. B. Hornbeck, of Chicago, traveling representative of the Hummer, the official organ of the national association, suggested that the delegate to the national convention be provided with matter advertising the opportunities awaiting all in Arkansas, saying the delegate could distribute these among 2,000 hotel clerks and hundreds of places between here and Los Angeles, where the national convention is to be held.

Pam Johnson expressed appreciation at the presence of the hotel men from other Arkansas towns; the hope that the efforts of the local men at entertainment had met with approval and the wish that not many years will elapse before the association will again meet in Pine Bluff, ten times as strong as it is now.

W. M. Caraway of Fordyce convulsed his audience with a description of the different duties of a manager of a hotel in a town the size of Fordyce, incidentally indicating he is a humorist who can produce a laugh.

Herbert S. Lowe of Little Rock spoke on behalf of the visitors, expressing thanks for the attention and hospitality accorded them.

After short talks by E. V. Fetty of Fort Smith, Mayor Bloom called attention to the great athletic meet to take place here April 30, May 1 and 2, requested the hotel clerks to extend to all an invitation to attend, and stated that Pine Bluff is preparing the finest athletic field in the country for the three-day event.

Meyer Solmsom brought the afternoon talks to a close with a funny story apropos of a recent visit to Hot Springs and in which a hotel clerk figured.

Two Want Next Convention.

Hot Springs and Fort Smith are both candidates for the next convention, the place for which will be selected by a committee composed of W. L. Dwyer, H. M. Shaw and H. S. Lowe of Little Rock.

The membership of the association has nearly trebled since the last meeting, and it is believed it will increase 100 per cent during the next year. There are about 7,000 hotel clerks affiliated with local organizations, 4,000 of these having membership in the national association.

Davis Made President.

At the second annual business session of the Greeters' Association of Arkansas, held at the Hotel Jefferson, Pleasant K. Davis, formerly the secretary-treasurer of the association, was elected president of the association. He is connected with the Hotel Main of Fort Smith. The other officers elected were:

First Vice-president, William Caraway, Hotel Marion, Little Rock; Second Vice-president, S. T. Aumick, Merchants hotel, Little Rock; Secretary-Treasurer, Pam Johnson, Hotel Jefferson, Pine Bluff.

For an Arkansas member of the board of governors of the national association, Hiram M. Shaw, assistant manager of the Hotel Marion, Little Rock, was chosen. He will also be delegate to the national convention which is to meet in Los Angeles June 8, 9 and 10.

Five applications for membership were received and these were approved.

The Board of Governors for the state association was named as follows: H. S. Lowe, of Little Rock; W. C. Dunegan, of Dermott; and G. F. Reynolds, of Hot Springs.

During the day the visitors were taken for a drive over the city and over the Dollarway road. Those who are attending are Hiram Shaw, assistant manager of the Hotel Marion at Little Rock; H. S. Lowe, chief clerk of the Capital Hotel, Little Rock; W. L. Dwyer, Little Rock; Eddy V. Fetty, of the Hotel Goldman, Fort Smith; W. B. Hornbeck, personal representative of R. H. Hawks, secretary of the national association and editor of "The Hummer," the organization's official publication; Jack Davis, assistant manager Hotel Main, Fort Smith; Pam Johnson, chief clerk Hotel Jefferson, Pine Bluff; Howard S. Davis, clerk Hotel Jefferson, Pine Bluff; William Caraway and John S. Taylor of the Shugart Hotel, Fordyce; Walter Runegan, Hotel Dermott, Dermott; S. T. Aumick, Little Rock; John Thrall, chief clerk Hotel Pines, Pine Bluff; F. Denny, Hotel Pines, Pine Bluff; James Chadick, chief clerk Arlington Hotel, Pine Bluff.

COMMERCIAL CARNIVAL PLEASES BIG AUDIENCE

LITTLE IMOGENE GRIFFIN AND HER SUPPORTERS WIN GREAT APPLAUSE WITH DRILL

"Good Night in the Nursery" Another Number Liberally Applauded—Program Will Be Curtailed Tonight.

The Business Men's Carnival made an auspicious beginning last night before a large audience at the Elks' theatre. With songs, jokes and clever sketches the assemblage was entertained for more than three hours, the performers being frequently applauded.

There were twenty-five numbers on the program, among them being several of unusual merit. The songs were catchy, and the costumes in many of the scenes quite elaborate.

The only criticism of the performance was that it was too long, and this will be remedied for the remaining nights, the announcement being made that the program will be curtailed by eliminating several of the less popular numbers, and by reducing the intermission period.

The carnival began with a clever little scene, "The Parisian Chorus," representing the Coco Cola Bottling Company. Miss Floy Harris as the soloist was especially good, winning considerable applause by her acting and singing.

The second number, "Good Night in the Nursery," was one of the best on the program. (With about fifty little tots in their "pajamarets" and "night gowns," singing in their childish treble, this scene was especially pleasing and made a great hit with the audience. Miss Ernestine Norris as "Nurse" and little Miss Lauverne Emerson as "Little Mother" were especially good.

With enough realism to make the lady performers highly delighted and the young men performers ill at ease, the wedding scene in which Mr. and Mrs. June Coulten were married, was charmingly carried out. The Musical Coterie furnished the vocal music, the strains of which caused many a prospective in the audience to have a flutter at the heart. This scene represented the Reap and Crawford Furniture Company.

When little Miss Imogene Griffin with her forty or more maids of honor marched in slow and measured tread upon the stage, a spontaneous burst of applause greeted them. This was a drill, and it was carried out perfectly, every little girl keeping time with the music. This was the prettiest scene on the program and was highly appreciated. It represented the Williams & Dewody Company.

"The Newsboys' Chorus" was rendered and the manner in which the enterprising young "newsies" shrilled their wares was true to life. While a smutty faced little newsy, whose cognomen in every day life is Niven, sang "I Gopher Number," the chorus of "paper drummers" amused the audience by pulling off fistic exhibitions and curb stone comedy, while several paired off and rolled the "bones." This scene, representing the Commercial, was well rendered, and well received by the appreciative audience.

"The Pantomime Dance," representing the Murphy-Martin Dry Goods Company, was artistically rendered and was well received. The lady members of the audience especially enjoyed this scene as the latest modes in hat wear were fully demonstrated by the charming and graceful performers with grace and charm.

"A Garden Party," in which the finest and most gorgeous costumes handled by the Froug Department store, were worn, was an enjoyable feature of the program. The styles

In feminine attire, the butt of many a masculine joke, were presented in a pleasing manner by a number of attractive young ladies, and the masculine members of the audience, usually prone to display their caustic wit at the eccentricities of female wearing apparel, were strangely silent during the exhibition except for an involuntary exclamation when a particularly delicate slit skirt was fully demonstrated, no comments were made.

"A Scene in the Park," presented by a number of lads and lassies, and representing The Graphic, was good.

As a whole the carnival was a success and the approval of the large first night crowd indicates a crowded house tonight and tomorrow night.

GRACE ILLIFF FUND OPEN INDEFINITELY

who have wished to continue giving toward the fund.

A lady called up the Associated Charities yesterday morning and said that she was very sorry that the fund had been closed as she had a sum of money which had been collected. She was informed that the fund had been reopened and it was only a short time until there was a sum of five dollars received from her.

Another added reason for the continuance of the fund was the receipt yesterday of a letter from a gentleman, who sent in a fund of fifteen dollars despite the fact that the fund had apparently been closed.

The letter which was sent is as follows:

"Associated Charities. Enclosed please find check for fifteen dollars to be added to the Grace Illiff fund.

"I was sorry to note in Sunday's Graphic that the collection would be closed today. The good people are just beginning to get interested and as this is a good cause, would suggest that you keep the subscription open indefinitely so that a large sum may be raised, and after paying the expenses of the Chicago trip, the balance can be paid into the hands of some reliable person and be invested for her future maintenance."

"Very respectfully,"

"D. L. FRANKLIN."

While the story to the effect that the fund had been closed had deferred many possibly from adding to the contribution it is thought now that the fund has been reopened that there will be a large number who will add to it.

According to the Associated Charities it may be necessary to have a nurse go to Chicago with her and returned here to make the trip again to bring her back to this city. In that event, it will involve some expense on that score. Just how long the little girl will have to remain in Chicago is of course a moot question, as there has been no means of finding out how long it will require the specialist to remove the cause of her affliction.

Despite the fact that the fund had been to all intents closed, there were some subscriptions received yesterday and the Associated Charities received during the day a sum of approximately $20.00.

Those in charge of the work have been loud in their praise of the manner in which this city met the call for help and predict that there will be every opportunity offered the little child to completely regain her health.

LITTLE BOY SICK.

Word was received in the city yesterday of the serious illness of little Johnny Floyd, at Selma, La. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Floyd, until recently residents of this city.
